The Management beg to announce a series of

Afternoon Performances Every Day at 3.

Believing as they do, they will supply a want felt by many to whom dramatic representations in the afternoon are a convenience.

A series of standard plays will be produced; and, whilst due care will be given to the mounting, mise-en-scene, and costumes, special attention will be devoted to the cast, and every effort will be made to secure the services of the very best artistes. The management, without further prelude, confidently submit their venture to public support.
